

THE INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE GPI GROUP CONTINUES WITH TENDER AWARDED BY THE WELSH HEALTH BOARD

Trento, 17 February 2020

GPI (GPI:IM), leading company on the MTA market in information systems and social and healthcare services, reporting that it has been awarded the international tender for the provision of a RIEDL PHASYS Automated Pharmacy System firstly into the Prince Charles Hospital, Wales, with a further 2 installations required during the course of the project.

The public procurement project, which lasts 10 years, was awarded for the provision of a new robotic system for the storage and retrieval of medications into the new pharmacy currently being built in the Prince Charles Hospital, part of the CWM TAF Morgannwg University Health Board (UHB), which supplies four hundred thousand in and out patients per year. An L-shaped 10,006 mt + 4,206 mt long x 2,619 mt high automated warehouse with 2 multi-picking grippers moving at 5m/sec speed, a fridge module and an automated loading module will be installed. The RIEDL system has a capacity of 20,000 packs and will output 2,500 different medication packs per day).

Prince Charles Hospital is a 630 bed hospital located in Grunos, Merthyr Tydfil in Wales, United Kingdom. It is part of the CWM TAF Morgannwg University Health Board, which provides primary, community, hospital and mental health services to the 450,000 people living in three County Boroughs – Bridgend, Merthyr Tydfil and Rhondda Cynon Taf.

The RIEDL brand entered the GPI Group in December 2014 and quickly became a leading system in the healthcare market. This award confirms the value of this GPI product with its versatility, it is suitable for different healthcare facilities world-wide, which has also been proven by the recent installations in China and Austria, already communicated last October.

Thanks to this award, which is of paramount importance because it is the first time that GPI will enter into British territory within a hospital environment, the up-selling and cross-selling actions of other products and services provided by the GPI Group will be facilitated.
